SMALL-POX IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Death of Judge Bliss-Spreckels
San Diego Sugar Refinery
-Hong Di Will Die.

Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—The Marine Engineers' Association held a meeting here last night, at which it was decided that all steam schooners on this coast must employ one engineer at $120 per month, and two firemen. In accordance with this action the engineers on the Celia and the Greenwood, the only steam schooners now in port, struck this afternoon, on the owners of the vessels refusing to comply with their demands. As other vessels arrive in port the men will be ordered out. As all engineers in port belong to this Union the result will be the tying up of the vessels. The owners seem to be not inclined to concede to their demands.

San Francisco's Small Pox.
SACRAMENTO, May 25.—The quarantine officer, this afternoon, discovered a fresh case of small pox on the steamer Gaelic. This makes the second case since the Gaelic has been quarantined.

Death of Judge Bliss.
MARIETTA, May 25.—Judge S. Bliss, a prominent attorney and an owner of the bench of Yolo county for thirty-five years, died this afternoon after a lingering illness. His death was caused from abscess in the head.

SAN DIEGO OCEAN LINE.
It Begins to Look a Very Little
That Way.

SAN DIEGO, May 25.—It is rumored that the American Sugar Refinery, of San Francisco, is preparing to build an extensive refinery here, and that they also intend to establish a line of steamships between this place and Honolulu. They have purchased three blocks of land on the water front, for $24,000, and have also made application to the City Trustees for a wharf franchise.

CONSUL BEE AND HONG DI.
What the Consul Knew in a Private Way.

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—The Bee special from Oroville, says: Hong Di is still in jail there, and a writ of habeas corpus has been taken out for him. The Sheriff of Butte county is probably afraid to take the prisoner to class county. In an interview with the Bee reporter to-day, the Chinese Consul, Bee, who goes to Oroville to defend Hong Di, says he had heard of Weaver's intimacy with Mrs. Billon three weeks ago, but rather thought Hong Di would kill himself, in which event it would not be necessary to make the facts public. Consul Bee is fully satisfied that the story is true, and also that the Chinaman will be given a fair show.

HONG DI WON'T TALK.
SACRAMENTO, May 25.—An Oroville special to the Bee says Hong Di is still in jail there. The Sheriff arrived there last night to take him to Colusa. The prisoner has sued out a writ of habeas corpus, returnable before Judge Freer at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning. Acting on the advice of his lawyer the Chinaman refuses to talk.

COMPLETE PARTICULARS TO DATE.
OROVILLE, Cal., May 25.—The habeas corpus in the Hong Di case was heard at 8 o'clock to-night. The writ was dismissed and the defendant was remanded. He is to be taken to-morrow to Colusa for trial.

CONSUL BEE'S OPINION.
SACRAMENTO, May 24.—Bee, the Chinese Consul at San Francisco, came up from that city this morning on his way to Oroville to look after the case of Hong Di. A reporter talked to the Consul shortly after his arrival here regarding the murder of Mrs. Billon by the Chinaman Hong Di, now in the hands of the Butte authorities. He replied: "My business in Oroville is to get at the truth of Hong Di's part in the killing of Mrs. Billon. We showed our good faith in wishing to assist justice, by offering a reward of $400 for his capture, and by keeping a detective searching for him ever since. We do not want to have him taken to Colusa, for we fear that he would never reach that jail. That is very probably the reason why the writ of habeas corpus has been taken out in Oroville. I can't say who procured it for the Chinaman, but I presume it may have been obtained through the Sheriff, who feared Hong Di would be lynched if he undertook to take him to Colusa. I believe now that Hong Di never intended to shoot the lady. To-night I will get the whole truth, for I seldom fail to get it from the Chinese who know who we are."

Committed Suicide.
SACRAMENTO, May 25.—L. P. Steinel, proprietor of a saloon, committed suicide this afternoon, by hanging himself in his room. One hundred and fifty dollars was found in his pantaloons pockets. Deceased was unmarried, and about 44 years of age. He had been drinking, and doubtless committed the deed while temporarily insane.

Report of Shipwreck.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—According to advices received here the schooner Canebrake, belonging to the McCollum Fishing and Trading Company, was wrecked on the coast of Alaska on March 29th. The vessel was found on the following day, bottom side up, on shore. The crew, consisting of seven men, had evidently been all washed overboard.

TEMPLETON, May 25.—Two piers of the new bridge over the Salinas river were completed to-day, and will be open for public travel within the next two weeks.

TRAMP ALL BROKE UP.

Seeking a Free Ride He Suddenly Loses His Life.
MOJAVE, Cal., May 25.—A tramp, name unknown, was killed near this place this morning by a south-bound Southern Pacific freight train. He was sitting on the pilot of the engine, when he discovered the fireman coming out on the engine to oil up, and in endeavoring to get down on the pilot so as to avoid being seen, his foot caught, throwing him under the engine, which, with the entire train passed over him. The body was cut in two, the limbs broken and horribly mangled and the clothing was entirely stripped from the body. He had been seen here the day before, when he was under the influence of liquor, and in conversation at that time he said he came from Merced, where he had been working on a canal.

Sonoma Olive Oil.

Col. George F. Hooper brought from his Sonoma vineyard and fruit orchard to Santa Rosa, on Monday morning, a quantity of fine olive oil, made from the olives grown upon his own grounds, now in the tenth year of their growth, from cuttings planted by Colonel Hooper himself. He has four hands engaged in making the oil, and will have a bounteous product. The oil is clear of a rich quality, and made with great care. It is the first ever made here, in Sonoma. The production of olives and their preparation for market, and the making of pure oil will become in a few years one of the valuable industries of Sonoma and sources of great value is confidently believed. The trees grow in favorable localities with every promise of heartiness, vigor and bounteous fruitage, and after the six or seven years required for bearing the crop is perennial and the life of the tree a matter of centuries. National Military Review

SUIT AGAINST JAY GOULD.

Soulless Monopoly Discharge Hands and Stop Making Hosiery—Branding-Iron Racket.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The parade of the troops in the National drill to-day, for review by the President, has afforded the first opportunity for seeing at once the entire body of those forming the encampment, and was an unequalled success. The arrangements for the parade were reasonably complete, and were carried out almost to the allotted record and without any apparent hitch or break.

MAGNIFICENT MARCHING.

The head of the column started from the camp and marched up Seventeenth street promptly at noon, and reached the stand erected for the President and invited guests ten minutes later. The reviewing stand had seats for nearly three hundred persons and was filled without crowding. Seated with the President were Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Marcy, Colonel and Mrs. Lamont, and General Sheridan; and several members of his staff, in full uniform, were there as his escorts.

PRESIDENTIAL COURTESIES.

When the right of the column approached, the President stepped upon the dais, and in response to the salute of the passing column rendered his hat. The wide, smoothly paved avenues selected for the line of march afforded ample room for display by company front, and thousands of strangers, with half the population of the city, filled the windows and lined the pavements along the entire route.

SUIT AGAINST JAY GOULD.

Foreign Mortgagees Have Made Discoveries.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The Commercial Advertiser says: "A suit involving $5,000,000 is about to be commenced against Jay Gould and Russell Sage, as trustees of the consolidated mortgage on the Kansas Pacific Railway by the foreign holders of the bonds issued under the mortgage. Certain facts were elicited during the recent examination of the affairs of the trustees by the United States Pacific Railway Commission, which had long been suspected to exist by the interested parties, but which they were unable to prove. Now all is made clear and a suit will be the result."

STRATAGEM OF SIDNEY DILLON.

It is stated that in 1879, when the plan to consolidate the Kansas and Pacific and the Union Pacific roads was about to be carried into effect, that Sidney Dillon, by a preconcerted arrangement had an attorney to bring action against Gould and Sage, as trustees of the great Kansas-Pacific blanket mortgage, to release the thirty thousand shares of Denver-Pacific stock from a lien of mortgage. This stock was worth one hundred dollars per share, being at par, but at this time it was of no great market value.

A CHAIN LIGHTNING SUIT.

In this unique case, in place of the ordinary legal delays, the answer was served on the following day and application was made to Judge Donahue for the appointment of P. R. Engle as referee, and within the next two or three days a so-called trial was had before said referee, during which Dillon testified that the Denver-Pacific stock was worth about $200,000 or $300,000, though its face value was $5,000,000.

THEY GOT THE STOCK.

The report was confirmed and a judgment awarding the three million dollars of stock was thus released from the lien of the mortgage, and transferred to Gould and Sage as individuals. The whole suit involving so large a sum of money, commenced and tried inside of one week. On the same day or the day after, the stock was transferred and the consolidation was consummated, and shortly afterwards the Denver-Pacific stock became worth its face value. Had it remained under the lien of the consolidated mortgage, each bond that had been issued would have been worth its pro rata share of three million dollars. More than it is to-day. This, with interest, would now be about five millions.

PURPOSE OF THE SUIT.

It is to secure a proportionate share of that, the foreign bond holders propose to bring their suit claiming a wrong of legal title to it. This robbery case bids fair to become one of the greatest lawsuits of the day.

A SUFFICIENT MONOPOLY.

Cannot Meet their Necessities—
May Close the Hosiery.
THORNTON, R. I., May 25.—The British Hosiery Company has posted a notice of the probability of a reduction of employees to half their present force, or a possible shut-down.

This concern was imported from England, together with its plant and operatives in 1884, to work under the advantages offered by the protective tariff. This notice spreads dismay among their operatives, few of whom have saved enough money to enable them to return with their families to England.

THE BRANDING-IRON RACKET.

Two Thousand Cows on Three Hundred Handed.

ST. LOUIS, May 24.—The Globe-Democrat special from Dallas, Tex., says: W. D. Lewis, late President of the Colorado Cattle Association, was arrested at San Angelo yesterday, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, from the National Exchanging Bank of Dallas, Texas. The bank claims that Lewis obtained $10,000 on a deed of trust for 2,000 head of cattle, while the most diligent search brought to light only 300 head.

A Homeward Bound Yacht.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The schooner yacht Coronet, which beat the Dauntless in the race from New York to Cork, passed Sandy Hook inward bound from England, at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

INSTRUCTING MALE NURSES.

Generosity of D. O. Mills and Others Unknown.

NEW YORK, May 25.—A new training school for male nurses is to be built on the grounds of the Bellevue Hospital, under the direction of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction. The old building in which was the museum of anatomy is now being torn down and a new structure, that will cost from $75,000 to $80,000, will be built at once and will be completed next fall or winter.

PLANS FOR THE BUILDING.

The plans for the building and name of the donor, D. O. Mills, were received by the County Commissioner on Saturday last. The Commissioner received from W. H. Osborn a letter offering this building for the male nurses, but not mentioning the name of the giver. President Porter states that there will be accommodations in the building for about fifty nurses; and while it will be under the supervision of the Commission, it will probably be under the direct and immediate control of the trustees appointed for that purpose.

ILLEGAL JUSTICE.

Speedily Meted Out to a Missouri Havisher.

ROCKVILLE, Mo., May 25.—Last Tuesday a man called at the Anderson residence and asked for a glass of water, which was given him by Jennie, the daughter of Mr. Anderson. When she came near to him, he suddenly seized and chloroformed her, and while under the influence of the drug, she was outraged. A search for the culprit resulted in the arrest of John Vanderburg. At the preliminary hearing yesterday, just as Judge Just announced that the prisoner was to be held in ten thousand dollars bail, a shot rang out, followed in rapid succession by two more. There was a sudden scatter for the street, and when quiet was restored the prisoner was found to be dead. No one knows who fired the shot, but two of Anderson's boys were in the Court-room, they were at once put under arrest.

ANOTHER HUDSON TUNNEL.

Pennsylvania Railroad Must Find Entrance to New York.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The Pennsylvania railroad finds it necessary to reach New York city by other ways than by way of the ferries, as the New York Central secures most of the passenger trade. So it is about building a tunnel under the Hudson river at a cost of $11,000,000. It will require two years to complete the work. The New York terminal will be under Washington Square. There are to be two parallel tunnels, one for trains going each way.

PANAMA CANAL DESTROYED.

Impounding Water Fills It From

NEW YORK, May 25.—Advices from Panama of the 16th inst. say: In one of the largest cuts in the canal the water has been struck. The who's amount of earth and rocks taken out of the section referred to cost millions of dollars, all of which is rendered valueless, as the water has washed from the side of the mountain a quantity more than sufficient to fill all the cuts that have been made.

A Peculiar Death.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 25.—William Openshaw, 23 years old, a brakeman on the Utah and Nevada railroad, was signalled by the engineer to fasten a loose board on a flat-car, this morning as the train was going to Garfield. Openshaw ran along the top of the cars, coming to the flat-car on which the lumber was, just as the board fell off. One end struck the ground and the other flew up and hit Openshaw in the back, cutting him open and knocking him under the train, where he was entangled and ground to fragments. The body was brought back to town in a blanket. He leaves a wife and one child.

Owners Boycotting the Strikers.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 25.—A plan is being organized by the members of the Coke syndicate to introduce new laboring men into the coke regions. In case they decide to put new men to work, they will be carefully protected, and a preference will be given to native Americans, as they have found the Hungarians are too troublesome to make any more experiments with them.

Deeply Touched.

PARIS, May 25.—Ferry and Byron de Mackan, leaders of the Right in the Chamber of Deputies, visited President Grevy to-day, in relation to the recalling of M. Flaquelet, from forming a Cabinet. They declared that the creation of a Flaquelet Ministry would injure the Foreign relations of France.

Flaquelet still continues his negotiations with the Opportunists, who persist in their opposition to the retention of Boulanger in the Cabinet. Rouvier especially refuses to receive the portfolio of Minister of Finance if General Boulanger is retained, and if he persists in his refusal, it may lead to Flaquelet's abandoning the task of forming a new Ministry.

ATTEMPT TO REPLACE BOULANGER.

PARIS, May 25.—M. Flaquelet has refused to form a Ministry, and it is now proposed to form a D. C. Clero Government, with General Sausse as Minister of War.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 24.—Editor O'Brien rested comfortably last night and reported himself feeling considerably better to-day. He was shown a dispatch containing a statement in the London Standard, to the effect that he had declined a seat in Parliament, to which he was recently elected, and was asked if the statement was accurate. Mr. O'Brien replied that the statement was wholly unauthorized and that he had neither accepted or declined the seat, and will take no action until he first has a consultation with Parnell. O'Brien left for Montreal at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

THE ENGLISH DERBY.

Full Particulars and Results of the Race.

LONDON, May 25.—Merry Hampton won the Derby. The Baron came in second, Martley third.

THE FAVORITE DOES NOT WIN.

LONDON, May 25.—Vast crowds of people left London to-day for Epsom Downs to witness the great race for the Derby stakes. The race course was heavy. Baron was the favorite in the betting, while the odds were 11 to 1 against Merry Hampton.

PARTICULARS OF THE RUN.

A capital start was made. Porcelain and the Shannon Colt first showed in advance, with Aintree and Eridaspord following, and the Baron and Merry Hampton coming next. Porcelain soon dropped back, but the Shannon Colt kept in the lead. Martley was last. At the mile post Eridaspord drew up and ran level with the Shannon Colt, and he was joined directly afterwards by Blanchland and Grandison and the Baron. The pace was too hot for the Shannon Colt and he gave way. Aintree was at the tail of the string, and Blanchland and Eridaspord were three lengths ahead of the Baron and Merry Hampton. On entering the straight, Cannon rode the Baron vigorously and Blanchland and Eridaspord very soon fell back beaten. Merry Hampton then took the lead. The Baron ran with gameness but failed to reach Merry Hampton, who won by five lengths, with Martley two lengths behind Baron. Aintree finished fourth, Eridaspord fifth. The Shannon Colt came in last. Merry Hampton was ridden by Wets; the Baron by Cannon, and Martley by Barrett.

BETTING RATES IN THE POOLS.

The last betting was 11 to 7 against Merry Hampton; 5 to 4 against Eridaspord; 12 to 1 against Aintree; 22 to 1 against Blanchland; 50 to 1 against Grandison; 50 to 1 against Porcelain; 100 to 1 against Saville; 200 to 1 against Conallid; 200 to 1 against the Shannon Colt.

THE BELGIUM STRIKE.

BRUSSELS, May 25.—The situation of the miners strike at Seroing is assuming a more alarming aspect. Twenty-two hundred more miners have left their work and are taking part in the strike at Charleroi. Seven thousand men are now in the strike, and the appearance of affairs is growing more serious.

THEATRE BURNED IN PARIS.

The Theatre Comique in Flames.
Loss of Life.

PARIS, May 25.—The Opera Comique took fire this evening, and the whole building is now wrapped in flames. Several people have been injured. Fourteen persons, who jumped from the windows, are dead, and forty-three injured. Probably many more are crushed to death in the gallery. At present, however, this is uncertain.

WHEN IT COMMENCED.

The fire broke out during the first act of the opera of Mignon. One of the wings caught fire from a gas jet and the entire stage was immediately enveloped in flames. The fire soon spread to the whole house. Madame Merghillier, Mme. Tequim and Bernard were on the stage when the fire broke out. All the actors ran out in their stage costumes. The audience got out easily, but the gas was turned off before all of them left the building, and it was feared that some were left in the upper tiers. The roof soon fell in, sending showers of sparks as far as the place De La Bourse. With the exception of Madame Sellier, who perished, all the actors escaped, though a number were seriously injured. Five bodies were terribly burnt.

A VAST FURNACE.

In fifteen minutes after the commencement of the fire the stage was a vast furnace. Several of the actors escaped by climbing to the roof, the side of the Rue Merivante, where they were rescued by the fire escapes.

TO REMAIN SEATED.

M. Jaquin implored the audience to remain seated until the exit was opened, which they did. If they had made a rush for the doors the loss of life would have been terrible. The police outside were unable to restrain the crowd who besieged the building inquiring for their friends until a military cordon was formed. One man, who wanted to rescue his brother and sister, raved and tore his hair and menaced with a stick, the people who attempted to rush into the blazing building.

WILD EXCITEMENT.

The scene outside was one of the wildest excitement. The horses in the surrounding streets would plunge and rear, and the flames shot out of every window, forcing the crowd into the narrow streets, where the crush was terrific. Figures as there were 150 persons on the stage when the fire broke out. She heard a glass breaking but told the others not to mind it.

THE FIREMEN.

The firemen showed the greatest courage. M. Goblet Thibaut, was on the spot soon after the fire started and remained there throughout with the fire officials. The Military Club rendered great assistance in the work of resisting the crowding of the people toward the building. Nineteen persons are known to be dead, and many of these supposed the flames to be artificial, and first forced an apartment which had been placed in position in readiness for the burning of a palace in the second act. It rolled down from its place near the roof and exploded below. Women, half-dressed and carrying children, fled from the stage screaming. The super and members of the chorus were terrified; some of the latter fled with nothing on them but nightgowns. Sewell, solicitor of the British embassy, said the audience showed great calmness when the alarm was given.

Larceny and Battery.

Charles Rivas, of San Bernardino, visited a house of ill fame kept by Myrtle McDonald, and after spending most of the night with an inmate, named Edith Thornton, left after raising a disturbance. He visited Justice Austin's court and swore out a complaint charging Edith Thornton with grand larceny, claiming that she had stolen $10 from him; and a complaint against Myrtle McDonald, charging her with having battered him. Edith Thornton testified that she had been paid the $10 by Rivas, and the evidence was such that the charge was dismissed. The case against Myrtle was not concluded but Rivas showed no marks of harsh usage.

Board of Public Works.

The Board of Public Works yesterday morning met to consider the preparation of the contracts for street-paving. The principal question considered was the insertion of clauses relating to repairs. It was finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of the City Attorney and City Surveyor, who will present the contracts to the Council at the next meeting. If necessary, supplemental contracts can be made at any time, and if the present ones do not include contingencies which may occur, they will cover all the suggestions and ground as was decided upon when the specifications were adopted.

An Extended Popularity. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES have been before the public many years. They are pronounced superior to all other articles used for similar purposes. For relieving Coughs, Colds and Throat Diseases they have been proved reliable.

No wash, no caustic, no grading to do in beautiful Huntington. Every lot is highly cultivated.

Dr. Quintan's Opinion of Mulein.

Ambrosine and Yerba Santa are strictly products of California. Mulein is a product of the world. Dr. Quintan of Dublin in a paper read before the Medical Association, Copenhagen, says: "Mulein has greater curative powers than Cod Liver Oil and equal to Khusian Kouture, and it has been demonstrated that Ambrosine and Yerba Santa has equal, if not greater curative powers than Mulein. Ambrosine Cough Balsam combines the three with other well known Expectorants and Narcotics (without opium) making it the greatest and best Cough medicine ever produced. Price 75 cents. Sold by C. F. Heintzmann.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child she used Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE GREAT REGULATOR

Are You Biliary?
The Regulator never fails to cure. I most cheerfully recommend it to all who suffer from Bilious Attacks or any Disease caused by a disordered state of the Liver.

Do You Want Good Digestion?
I suffered intensely with Full Stomach, Headache, etc. A neighbor, who had taken Simmons' Liver Regulator, told me it was a sure cure for my trouble. The first dose I took relieved me very much, and in one week's time I was as strong and hearty as I ever was. It is the best medicine I ever took for Dyspepsia.

Do You Suffer from Constipation?
Testimony of HIRSH WARRNER, Chief Justice of the State: "I have used Simmons' Liver Regulator for constipation of my bowels, caused by a temporary derangement of the Liver, for the last three or four years, and always with decided benefit."

Have You Malaria?
I have had experience with Simmons' Liver Regulator since 1855, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times for diseases peculiar to malarial regions. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation.

Safer and Better than Calomel!
I have been subject to severe cases of Congestion of the Liver, and have been in the habit of taking from 15 to 20 grains of calomel, which generally laid me up for three or four days. Later I have been using Simmons' Liver Regulator, which gave me relief, without any interruption to business.

At the same time that these loathsome, brown hands are fashionable and the palm hardened, even corrugated with the callouses caused by use of the mallet and the bar, great attention is paid to the nails, which the modern manicure cuts, polishes, roses and adds to them a gem like polish.

One would think, since the science of palmistry has become so favorite a pastime, and if there be only a step between divination and prophecy, that the clothing formed by an ear or a ball but would confuse the lines of long life, hard fortune, one husband or more, so that the old fashion of sleeping in chicken skin gloves would come back again.

A soft hand is very comforting to the sick, and a child who is ailing loves the cool hand of his mother on his head. It is a marvelous poultice for his aches and pains.

As an object to kiss a white and well-kept hand is very important. The lines of respect should be imprinted on the hand. It is a continental fashion still and might well be introduced on our shores. The hand is, after all, the natural member to salute. The nerves of touch are most highly developed in the fingers, and the charm of the hand is its delicate every shade of cordiality, to vary the salute to pleasure. There is everything in the hand. It has a cunning freemasonry. If only two fingers are extended, if no prehensile thumb completes the manœuvre, farewell to cordiality. If a strong hand catches a weak one and gives it a grip which mashes the bones, farewell to friendship. Let the hand-shake be warm, cordial and welcome—the just milieu of salutation.

The French rarely shake hands, and only with intimate friends. They often give the left hand as near the heart, "la main de cœur," they call it. On the Continent the etiquette of hand-shaking is observed with delicacy. No man should assume to shake hands with a lady unless she extends her hand first. It is the privilege of a superior to offer a hand. In a ball-room there is no shaking of hands. The mere public place of introduction, the less hand-shaking takes place. Still, among effusive foreigners both hands are frequently extended to old friends.

The Irish hand, among a peasantry who labor from the cradle to the grave, is almost universally small and well-shaped. It is a Milesian trait; whether potatoes, bog-trotting, poor living, political disturbances, shillalabs and damp climate improve the hand we know not, but the Irish lass has a pretty hand. No matter how much they cook, wash or dig, the knuckles seldom grow to be large and prominent, as in the English and Scotch hand.

The American hand is sinewy, and, as we have observed, does not follow the example of the American foot in being beautiful. No doubt the accomplishments are somewhat trying to the hand, such as playing the harp, the zither, the guitar, the banjo. The nails of a musician are apt to betray him. There is an eccentricity peculiar to the handwriting of executive businessmen, as witnessed in that part of Beethoven. But this need not be attributable wholly to the use of the hand.

Chaucer commends his gentle Princess for her white hand and taper fingers, and the cleanly fashion in which she dined. Nowadays the modern belle has the finger-bowl to help her, and she can cleanse her fingers after an olive in a bowl of rose-water.

It is a curious contradiction that a man takes care of his hand as he drives, runs, or plays ball or cricket, wearing a thick dogskin glove. The prince of Wales covers his hand from sun and wind, then goes to a ball with his rosy fingers uncovered, except by rings.

A young woman, on the contrary, exposes her hand to wind, sun and rain. She hardens it with the reckless use of a prizefighter, and when she goes to a ball she covers it with a glove. This is not the way her predecessor belle has done in the past ages of the world. "The hand of a Duchess" has passed into a proverb. The old novelists always give their heroines white hands; the poets are devoted to white hands and rosy palms.

Expressive hands are, perhaps, better than pretty hands, and useful hands are better than either; but young girls who are poetry and romance combined should not allow their hands to grow too brown and rugged. It is a strange freak of fashion, for if they were Joan of Arc and had to labor in the fields, they would look regretfully at those brown and callous hands. However, work is what you are obliged to do, and amusement, however hard, is what you choose to do, so there is all the difference in the world.

As it is, however, the brown hand of an athlete is worth a dozen of the creamy hands of an idler, so we prefer the present habits of our athletic girls. If they cannot be both healthy and happy and have white hands, too, we throw up our hands. (Mrs. John Sherwood in New York World.)

By land or at sea, out on the prairie or in the crowded city, Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the best for purgative purposes, everywhere alike convenient, efficacious and safe. For sluggish bowels, torpid liver, indigestion, bad breath, flatulency and sick headache they are a sure remedy.

Unnecessary Misery.
Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. Hamburg Fig is a pleasant and reliable remedy, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. Price 25 cents; all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co. proprietors, San Francisco.

REV. H. B. EVELL, of Pavilion, N. Y., says of Gilmore's Aromatic Wine: "It is a most desirable remedy to be used in every family." C. F. BENZIE, Agent, Los Angeles.

Not a single piece or parcel is defaced with "graveyard" signs to horrify new-comers and intentional purchasers. A good part of it is within and below market value. The reason why owners are willing to sell are various. Some because they would like to invest elsewhere; some because they purchased cheap and are satisfied with a good profit; some to get out of debt; some for division; some to put money in other business, etc.

Investors are invited to call upon us for information. Persons intrusting property to us for sale must not permit the erection thereon of any "graveyard" signs. DAILY HERALD.

DAIRY MAIDS.

The Opening Night Was a Great Success.

ILLUMINATED MYSTIFICATION.

The Tableaux Vivants—Marching Maids—Peasant Lads—Cottages.

The Dairy Maids Festival at the pavilion opened auspiciously last evening, and there was a much larger attendance than was anticipated by the ladies who had the affair in charge. Owing to the fact that the opera company gave two extra nights, the building was not secured for the festival as soon as was expected, and the committees were forced to labor unceasingly in order to be able to open at all last night. Up to 6 o'clock last evening there was no cessation in the labor necessary to complete the erection and decoration of the cottages, which appeared to great advantage under the electric and gas lights. As it was, there were some of the minor details which were not completed, but considering that there had been so short a time given for preparation, the opening was far more auspicious than was expected. There was some difficulty in relation to reserved seats in the balcony, but this will be arranged to-night when a host of ushers will be in attendance. The balconies were filled almost as well as they were during the opera, and on the floor there was a large number who spent the evening watching the Ice House to the Grand and the Sugar Camp and Sybil's Cave. The main house in front of the entrance, with its veranda and flower garden, separated from the rest of the floor by an evergreen hedge, was a very slightly elevated, and the Ice House, adjoining on the left, was a picture in itself. Further down the left, the Creamery in a one-story cottage, on which floated the Swiss flag, was inviting in appearance and attracted considerable attention. On the right, the main cottage was Sybil's Cave, a weird looking place and during the evening this was surrounded by many anxious to have their future lives unfolded. The Sugar House, at one side of the stage, and the old fashioned well at the other, aided in completing a very picturesque scene and one which will draw full houses for the balance of the season. Commencing with this morning from 11 o'clock until 2 in the afternoon, light lunches will be served at the Pavilion, and guests will be on the European plan. A visitor can obtain a 10 cent lunch or a 25 cent lunch of mush and milk, bread and cheese, ice cream, sandwiches, cake and all the delicacies of the season. The bill of fare will inform the patrons of the price of each edible.

ON THE STAGE.

The entertainment on the stage was more than worth the amount charged for admission, and each portion of it was warmly applauded. The first portion was given in the HERALD of yesterday, and went off more smoothly than might have been expected. The curtain rolled up for the first time and disclosed 75 lads and ladies in Swiss costume very picturesquely arranged. In the background was a large stack of hay, on top of which several of the maidens were seated. The tin buckets and milking stools and the maids, and the scythes of the lads, added greatly to the beauty of the tableau. The choruses of the Dairy Maids and the Peasant Lads were excellently rendered, and the march which followed on the main floor was warmly applauded. The second portion of the programme was awaited with the greatest interest, and when the curtain rose disclosing living statuary there was a silence which was noticeable. The living statuary, two or three different statues, introducing startling effect of Sappho walking on full stage and disappearing from view. (Appropriate scenic effects.) The following tableaux will be represented: Beatrice, Highland Mary, History, Maidenhood, Fairy, Tamborine Girl, Galatea, Diana, Three Graces, Rebecca at the Well, Hope, Sappho, Zenobia; by Mrs. H. C. Dean, Miss Bernice Taylor, Bella Cook, Elmer Reed, Ida Hathaway, Miss Slater, Clara Hoffman, Wynne Wells, Estel Sawtelle, Dean Sawtelle, Blanche Bartwell.

3. Romance, "Awakening of Spring," Bach.

4. Tableau, allegorical illusion: War, Miss Mary Bosbyshill; peace, Miss Blanche Boutwell, California, Mrs. H. C. Dean; goddess of Liberty, Miss Edna Davis; Star Spangled Banner and chorus.

7. Serenade, Schubert.

8. Revolving illusionary tableau, dairy maids, peasant lads, Ice Queen and nymphs, "Three Little Maids," introducing the effect of tableau disappearing with motion.

10. Picture tableau, "The Troubadour," serenaded by Mrs. F. B. Fanning, who disappears while singing, leaving her pedestal on the stage.

11. Scriptural dissolving illusion, "Early at the Cross," into "Simply to Thy Cross I Cling," "Rock of Ages."

Characters by Misses Jessie Jordan, Frances Wheeler, Madge Connell, Bernice Taylor, Mrs. H. C. Dean, Misses Bollinger, Song, "Rock of Ages," by Mrs. F. B. Fanning and quartette.

To-night the programme will be as follows:

LORDSBURG.

Successful Sale of Lots Yesterday in the New Townsite.

Two trains started for this city yesterday morning for the great sale of lots at Lordsburg. The cars were crowded before they left this city, but as they took on large numbers of people at Pasadena and other points, it can be imagined how they were jammed before reaching their destination. On arriving at Lordsburg, a great number of people were there in vehicles from Pomona and the surrounding country, and when the San Bernardino train arrived with another large delegation, there could not have been less than two thousand persons on the grounds.

Lordsburg is laid off upon a beautiful slope of land, mostly covered with grain. The background is formed by the mountains which enclose San Dimas Canyon and away to the right stretches the stately Cucamonga range, with its magnificent peaks. Farther on, Mount San Bernardino rears her lofty snow-capped head. The spurs which divide San José valley from that in which Lordsburg is situated serve to complete the frame of as beautiful a picture as Nature, improved by art, could present to the admiring eye.

The projector of this latest candidate for urban favor did not fail to carry out his promise to supply an ample lunch for all comers. But the comers were so ravenously hungry after their fine early morning ride, that they made the food disappear far more rapidly than Moore and his lieutenants could fetch it on. At last, however, all were satisfied, and a grand rush was made for the platform where the sale was to take place. There were three auctioneers present, Messrs. Bell, Matlock and Ambrose, and the terms of the sale were presented to the audience in a very clear manner by Mr. Ambrose.

Little books, containing the number of the blocks and the lots, and the prices fixed upon each, were distributed among the audience. The price marked in each lot was the standard price, and the sale proceeded by putting the choice of lots in competition to the highest bidder. The first choice brought $300; then for several bids the choice remained in the hundreds, when it lowered to $70, $60, and $40 for a long time. It then dropped to $35 and $30, and hung there for awhile. Another drop of five followed, and the bidding fluctuated down to $20 and $15, where it remained until near the close. Finally it dropped to $10; then to $5, and here it remained stationary for a while, when it was announced that purchasers could take their choice of lots at schedule figures.

The bidding was spirited throughout. As a general thing the corner lots were marked at $500 and the others at $250. The choice of lots at the beginning was made in the blocks on the south side of the tract and fronting the depot. Then there was a strong diversion in favor of the blocks on the north side of the tract, and the bidding went up. At times the buyers would take long flights into the blocks at the northeastern extremity of the tract, and then they would scatter and take lots at random everywhere. During a slight lull, the auctioneer was asked to try a whole block at once. This last choice was made at the depot. The choice of lots at the beginning was made in the blocks on the south side of the tract and fronting the depot. Then there was a strong diversion in favor of the blocks on the north side of the tract, and the bidding went up. At times the buyers would take long flights into the blocks at the northeastern extremity of the tract, and then they would scatter and take lots at random everywhere. During a slight lull, the auctioneer was asked to try a whole block at once. This last choice was made at the depot.

When the option of lots without premium was given to the crowd, the markers and the clerks had all that they could do to keep up with the sales. This last choice of the soil, declaring that he would give any man a lot for nothing who would dig down to the gravel and go through anything but the richest alluvium. A number of brawny Los Angeles lads looked as if they were going to try to dig down to the gravel, but they didn't. Mr. Lord then burst forth in a blaze of eloquence upon the water supply of Lordsburg. He said water would be piped to the town from Indian Hill in large volume, that was not enough, it could be had by sinking wells a few feet anywhere, and such water! No sweet, so pure, so soft! "Why, you could wash a lady's flannels in it without puckering, as soft and delicate as the water of the wells of Lordsburg!" Some doubt arose in the audience whether the puckering applied to the man who should wash the lady's flannels; to the lady whose flannels should be washed; or to the flannels themselves. We fear this will always remain a moot subject of inquiry. The audience, however, justly appreciated the speech, and applauded the eloquent orator to the echo. Then lot-buying again proceeded with energy, and kept up till the train arrived and the sale closed.

It was impossible to get the exact figures of the sales. But from the estimates made by a number of gentlemen who kept tally and notes, it was believed that the total would reach about $200,000 for purchase of lots, and $15,000 for premiums.

If these figures are approximately correct, and we believe they are, the town site sale at Lordsburg was one of the most successful of the season.

Two Burglaries.

On Saturday night Hellman, Staasforth & Co.'s store was entered by burglars, who endeavored to break into the safe. The burglars entered from the main street side and probably gained the inside of the building by putting a small boy over the transom. The glass in this was broken and the transom was not large enough to admit of a grown person entering in that manner. Once inside, the boy opened the doors and admitted others provided with tools, who bored three holes into the safe, but did not succeed in striking the right spot. The time consumed in boring must have carried the burglars well into the morning and they were afraid to continue their explorations.

On Monday night the saloon in the basement on the corner of Arcadia and Main streets was broken into and the full robbed of about $5 in coin. No traces of the perpetrators of either crime have been discovered so far.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

A Review of the Day's Transactions.

New York, May 25.—To-day was another dull and listless day for most of the stocks, but the dealings were marked by an increased strength, and material advances were recorded in several specialties. St. Paul and Duluth was again a conspicuously strong stock. San Francisco stocks were favorably affected by handsome earnings. Reported among other strong specialties was the Oregon Improvement. New England was the only really feverish stock on the list, and while it was inclined to heaviness at first, rumors of a new deal were circulated and it became the specially strong stock at the close. The close was dull and firm at or near the best price of the day. Governments were dull but firm.

The Grandest Opportunity of the Age.

You travel for hours in search of a home or a good investment, when one lies at your door for almost nothing. Every one who has been shown through acreage and sand in one direction, over boulders, arroyos in another, and through water in a third, and low, flat and beyond us, come to our office, and with a sigh of relief, after a ride of forty minutes on a lovely road, arrive on the mesa on Vermont avenue, at the beautiful townsite of Rosecrans, where we are selling large lots for a short time for $50 per lot, in installments of $5 per month with water piped on the streets. What wonder that we have sold 300 lots in two weeks! A sane person does not pause to think twice, but buys to the full limits of his pocket and borrows money to buy more at these prices. A motor road running inside of six months and the large amount of land we own guarantee a self-supporting and thriving town. ROSECRANS IMPROVEMENT CO., E. P. AKOIS, Manager, Rooms 8 and 9, Wilson Block, 24 W. First St.

DAILY HERALD. PASADENA PROGRESS.

Industrial Movements of Every Kind.

A METROPOLIS OF ITSELF.

A Scene of Activity in Every Department of Human Industry and Enterprise.

Those who remember the establishment of the settlement of Pasadena, in 1873 and 1874, in a land without irrigation, without decent roads of approach, without everything to make a home attractive and desirable, can enter into a proper contemplation of the Pasadena of to-day. Then the north and east portion of the tract now occupied by the City of Pasadena was a grasshopper pasture of ample proportions and very thickly inhabited. For two years the settlers saw their vineyards and orchards stripped of every green thing, and, in desperation, set fire to the dry alfalfa that clothed the plain, in order to get rid of these destructive insects. For this act of self-preservation the perpetrators were arrested, and suffered the penalty of the law in such cases made and provided.

Then a sale was made of about 300 acres, in ten-acre lots, on the east side of the tract, at $55 per acre, and the new settlers, mainly from Iowa and Utah, took their stand on picket duty against the devastating "hoppers." This was the close of the plague against these insects. The land was all plowed, burying the eggs of the hoppers too deep for a resurrection, and chickens and turkeys were employed to capture such as came from abroad.

The result was satisfactory and permanent; the insects were annihilated, and the musketoes and ticks that were everywhere, the orange, the lemon and lime in the old settlement were removed and laid to rest after an honored career of usefulness. With each succeeding year these insects were driven back by the plow and domestic fowls all the great beautiful plain, with its beautiful surroundings of hill and mountain and its delicious air that brought strength and health to the feeble and the sick.

Their endurance, their industry and faith have been well rewarded. The dozen cheap board houses of small dimensions of 1874 in that favored spot have all given place to costly residences of taste and elegance, and the great plain, which used to be the course ground with bounds for horses and other game, and was the dread of the frontier settler with his ten-acre orchard and his little garden, is now a great settlement, a city situated amidst all that nature can create of beauty and that in profusion, or art collect to beautify the opulent earth, or science gather and mould into forms of home, and libraries, and churches, and temples of magnificence; and the city is surrounded by a wide expanse of cultivated fields, and the laborer has no hindrance from stress of weather.

Without let or stay the progress of the city has been rapid and is now progressing more rapidly than ever. The population, previously a few hundred, is now about 10,000, while the floating population in the fifty different boarding houses and twenty hotels amounts to several thousands more. From the progress of the past three years it is safe to state that in three years more the population of Pasadena and South Pasadena will be 25,000.

Manufacturers are springing up in many localities; the culture of fruits is rewarding and the yield abundant; canneries, crystallizing works, fruit packing establishments and dryers are in active operation, with three immense lumber factories in constant and crowded section, are among the manufacturing industries of that prosperous town. The banking facilities are conducted by four banks of ample capital, with a deposit line of $2,000,000.

A hundred stores and shops are doing a good business, and no one complains of dull times, even at this season of the year, when it is usual to expect a lull in business activity.

Four railways are in course of construction, and with those chartered and those already made, will make nine railways of various kinds in this thriving city, that will be capable of carrying the passengers of a city of 100,000 people. The steady investment of capital in Pasadena continues with increasing volume. During the past year about $7,000,000 have been invested in real estate in this favored place, while the investments in buildings exceed $3,000,000. The expenditure of laying water pipe will swell up to $200,000, and sidewalks and railway buildings will make $200,000 more.

The new opera house just commenced will cost $100,000, and the buildings that are to be erected around it will cost $100,000 more.

The Pasadena Academy will soon be completed at an expense of $25,000, and the Y. M. C. A. headquarters at $30,000. The developments on the south of the Raymond Addition, the Phillips Addition and the charming park of Oak Knoll now begun, will amount to $500,000 in a few short months. Improvement is visible on every hand, and arrangements are being made for the entertainment of tourists during the coming twelve months. In 1886 and the winter of '87 it is estimated that 50,000 guests were entertained in the hotels and boarding houses of Pasadena, and in 1887 and the winter of '88 it is calculated that 75,000 guests will apply for a place of rest in this charming spot. With this prospect in view a large number of buildings will be prepared to welcome the coming guests.

A delusion has prevailed that tourists to California would mainly come in the winter, but that idea is exploded by the fact that the excursions still continue in full force, one or two arriving every week, with arrangements for a continuance of the business during all the summer. Travelers have now ascertained that the summer delights of Southern California are equal to those of the winter, and the seaside and the mountains are more attractive in summer than in winter. This fact is spreading far and wide, and it is not so distant a day when tourists on our matchless Sierra Madre will be sought after from May till October on account of their grand location and their glorious and inspiring air that floats over this heavenly heights and mountains of grandest vision.

A progress like that of Pasadena should put to rest all senseless statements of the phenomenal character of improvements in Southern California. No part of the world is to-day making such permanent improvements as this section of the State. The railroads are taxed into weakness to bring the lumber, the wheat, the grapes, the hardware, lime, stone, cement, brick and furniture that are now going into the beautiful homes that are being created in every direction throughout Los Angeles county. Pasadena is not alone in the great work that is now going on, but is a fine example to be cited to those who think that business is overdone in this part of the State. In fact business is but just begun. Pasadena and Los Angeles will be one city in a brief period, and form a continuous municipality in the Sierra Madre region, an extent of 30 miles in length by at least 6 miles in width, with 500,000 people contained therein, and will be the capital of the richest State in the Union. The claim of New York City, the Empire State, already in dispute, but the dispute will soon be settled by the pre-eminence of Southern California.

THE CONTEST.

Testimony for Rebuttal Continued Yesterday.

Thomas F. Bello testified that he was at the Depot Precinct. He knew Lustra's and saw two at that place. He gave no money to them for the purpose of influencing their vote, nor did he give them tickets. He did not know Manuel Lastra, but he knew three Lastras.

R. R. Dominguez, recalled, testified that he had heard the testimony of C. A. Bernal. He had registered Bernal, but did not tell him that the paper he signed would make him a citizen. Bernal had answered the questions satisfactorily and witnesses had given him the certificate to sign. Bernal had told him that he was a naturalized citizen.

John Fischer testified that he was the City Assessor. He did not know what the population of Boyle Heights was last year. W. R. Lewis testified that he was United States Deputy Marshal at the Depot Precinct. He noticed the challenges, and had removed Roberto Valencia because he saw him slipping a ballot into the hand of a Mexican who was about to vote. Valencia was the Republican challenger, and stood near the window.

Adjoined until 10 o'clock this morning.

Cottony Cushion Scale.

The devastations of this most insidious insect are apparently drawing to a close. When it first appeared in the city of Los Angeles and its character and ravages became known it might have been exterminated for less than $500. But the people refused to burn the infested trees, as they should have done by placing straw sprinkled with kerosene beneath each tree, and lighting the straw. Such a course would have been instantaneous death to the insect at trifling cost, but instead of that process the owners allowed the pest to live on till it spread nearly all over the city. Then they began in the worst possible manner the work of extermination, by chopping down the trees and hauling them over the ground, thus filling the whole soil with the insect instead of exterminating it. A sudden kerosene flame would have exterminated the insect in five minutes without injuring the trunk of the tree, after which the burned branches could have been cut off and new branches would have been formed and the tree would be restored to fruiting. Instead of this course many orchardists cut off the branches and burned them, but a large portion of the scale fell into the soil only to reappear in a few months on the new branches.

Fortunately the destruction of a large number of orchards in the city by this insect happened in the line of railway improvements, so that the loss of the tree by the scale bug was only what would have been caused by the conversion of the land into city lots or to a roadway for the cars.

At Orange, where the insect was as bad as in the city and fearfully destructive, the balloon tent over the tree and a charge of gas therein has effectively killed the pest wherever tried; but more wonderful still it seems that the insect in the vicinity where the gas has not been applied have taken the alarm, and like Davy Crockett's coon, are coming down without a shot, many orchards showing a wonderful and mysterious disappearance of the pest, without any attempt being made at its destruction. This happy disappearance will be hailed with delight by all fruit-growers who devoutly hope that the insect will "Stand not upon the order of its going but on the order of its coming."

If a similar begin of this pest will take place in other localities it will save millions of dollars to the orchardists of California in the future. A careful watch should be kept to ascertain the why and wherefore of the disappearance of this most injurious and unwell-known insect.

DYSPEPSIA.

Sedentary habits, mental worry, nervous excitement, excess or impropriety in eating or drinking, and various other causes, induce Constipation followed by general derangement of the system. The stomach, in which the disorder of each organ increases the infirmity of the others.

The immediate results are Loss of Appetite, Nausea, Fullness, Heartburn, Flatulence, Bloating, Sick Headaches, failure of physical and mental vigor, distressing sense of weight and fullness in the stomach, and increased Constipation, all of which are known under the name of Dyspepsia.

In every instance where this disease does not originate from scrofulous taint in the blood, AYER'S PILLS may be confidently relied upon to effect a cure. Those cases not amenable to the curative influence of AYER'S PILLS alone will certainly yield to the Pills as aided by the powerful blood-purifying properties of AYER'S SASSAPARILLA.

Dyspepsia should know that the longer they suffer from their malady is postponed, the more difficult of cure it becomes.

Ayer's Pills

Never fail to relieve the bowels and produce their healthy and regular action, and thus cure Dyspepsia. Temporary ailments all do permanent harm. The natural activity into which the enfeebled stomach is stirred by "Ayer's Pills" and alcohol stimulants, is inevitably followed by reaction that leaves the organ weaker than before.

Constipation, induced by my sedentary habits of life, became chronic. AYER'S PILLS effected a cure. Their occasional use has since been a source of great benefit to me. I can truly say that I owe my health to them. WATSON, 122 State St., Chicago, Ill.

News Notes.
Richard Gates, who was charged with petit larceny for stealing a dog, was sentenced yesterday to seventy-five days in the County Jail.

The Pasadena Star printed on Monday arrives in Los Angeles Wednesday evening. Where is the descendant of Annanias who said there were five trains a week on the San Gabriel road?

A petition was yesterday circulated protesting against the locating of the government building on Main street between Fourth and Fifth, on the ground that it is too far from the business center.

The Herald acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to attend a select complimentary literary entertainment and social, to be given at Armory Hall, on Friday evening, June 3, by the Young Men's Institute.

Last night Officers Fred Smith and Moore caught John Abbott and James Maloney smoking opium, in a house on Arcadia street. They were taken to the police station, and deposited $50 each for their appearance.

Shortly after noon yesterday a horse attached to a buggy dashed down First street from Fort street and narrowly missed running into another buggy containing two ladies, crossing First on Spring. The horse was stopped just below Main street without causing the least damage.

The charges of felony against Mrs. Rozelle and her husband will come up for preliminary examination in Judge Austin's Court to-morrow. Petrie has, it is thought, recovered sufficiently from his wounds to be present. The District Attorney intends to prosecute the case vigorously.

E. S. Babcock, Jr., President of the Coronado Beach Company, writes the Herald as follows: "We are quite confident that the city of San Diego has no right to tax Coronado Beach, and will demonstrate it in the Courts. It was virtually decided in our favor in the Superior Court several years since."

Yesterday an urethral yelid, "Here's yer evening paper" about the starvation army. The boy evidently meant this as a take-off on the Salvation Army, but he is badly fooled. All the Salvationists in the present corps are remarkably sleek and well-fed, much more so than if they worked for a living.

The Knights Templar of this city are fixing up a delightful excursion to Santa Barbara. It will be by water and will take place during the coming heated term. The Commanderies of San Bernardino, Riverside, etc., will join our Knights, and one of the pleasantest times of the summer will be enjoyed. Each Knight will take his wife along, if he is fortunate enough to have one.

Solomon Mendelsohn had a difficulty with Emil Harris yesterday in which his fingers were cut with a knife, in the hands of Harris. The trouble occurred over a lottery ticket, which Mendelsohn claimed he owned and which he said Harris would not give to him. Mendelsohn visited Assistant District Attorney Harrison yesterday, but that gentleman after investigating, refused to draw up a complaint.

Charles Parsons states that he yesterday entered a house on the corner of Upper Main and Short streets to serve some legal papers, and ran right into a room where were two well developed cases of smallpox. Charles lost no time in getting himself properly fumigated. If the facts are as stated, it is a criminal act on the part of the authorities. Move the cases to the pest house and quarantine the neighborhood at once.

Yesterday a man filed suit for divorce at the Clerk's office. He based his claims for a dissolution of the holy bonds on their peculiar ground that he was very drunk when the ceremony was performed, and that his present wife took advantage of his helpless condition to entangle him in the meshes of matrimony. If the woman has any sense she will not let such a man struggle to get free.

STOLE A WATCH.

A Mother's Letter Betrays Her

About two months ago Mrs. Julia Smith, who resides on Georgia street, purchased a gold watch of Nordlinger, paying therefor $35, and a chain for which she gave $32. Mrs. Smith, having rooms to spare, rented one to W. A. Davis, who was rooming at the house at the time she purchased the watch. One morning shortly after the purchase Mrs. Smith came down town to engage in her daily toil of preparing Bryon flock for occupation, but she left the watch and chain under her pillow. As she went home she saw a tramp in the neighborhood but did not pay any particular attention to him, but she afterward suspected him of the theft of her watch which she discovered had been taken when she arrived at her home.

As soon as she discovered her loss she called to Davis, who was in the house at the time, and together they waited on Constable E. J. Smith, who undertook to find the thief. Constable Smith immediately suspected Davis of the theft, but as time went on nothing occurred to point to him as the guilty party. Finally Davis moved and went to Santa Monica, but when he departed he left in his room a letter from his mother, who resides at Hot Springs, Arkansas. Mrs. Smith picked this up, and reading it she came to the conclusion that it threw light on the loss of her watch. Mrs. Davis told her son in the letter that she had received the watch which he had sent her, and was wearing it. In return she said she had taken his watch "out of soak," and would send it to him. Constable Smith immediately wrote to Chief of Police Hart, of Hot Springs, and requested him to obtain the number and description of the watch received and worn by Mrs. Davis, to see if it corresponded with the description of the stolen watch purchased at Nordlinger. Yesterday Constable Smith heard from Chief Hart, who stated that the watch tallied with the description, and was in his hands. He was asked, by telegram, to send it here, and Constable Smith went to Santa Monica yesterday afternoon and arrested W. A. Davis, who was lodged in the County Jail last night, and will have to answer to a charge of burglary. He wore the watch sent him by his mother, and was inclined to deny the accusation, until confronted with his mother's letter, when he weakened.

GIVING AWAY.

The Foundations of the New City Hall Settling.

The City Hall building has settled four inches at the corner in which is located the office of the Chief of Police. In consequence of this settling the brick wall in front has cracked, and there are several large cracks inside. The least shock of earthquake is considered likely to bring down the entire wall fronting on the hole on the corner of Spring and Second streets, recently purchased by John Bryson for $120,000 from the city. The immense weight of the bricks in that wall has broken some of the bricks in the front wall in the middle, showing the force which is being brought to bear to tear asunder the building. The only support which the wall now has is a tin shoveler, reaching from the bottom of the hole about half-way up the first story. The corner stones of granite, which were formerly even with the sidewalk, are now four inches below, and there is evidence of weakness about that part of the building which gives its occupants some uneasiness. Those who are unfortunate enough to be in the building when the wall gives away will without doubt lose their lives.

The Press Vacation.

The San Diego News speaking of the project of an editor's excursion or vacation says:

By all means let the project be undertaken. There are not in the United States a set of men who work harder than the editors of Southern California, and they have earned a lay off. In most of the Eastern States press associations have been formed, and annual excursions undertaken, which have served a double purpose—to enable editorial brethren to meet and become acquainted with each other, confer upon matters pertaining to newspaper work, and get away for a time from the engrossing cares of business. If some of the leading papers of Southern California will move in this matter it can be done easily.

CATARRH.

THE TERM CATARRH IS APplied to a peculiar disorder of the nostrils and adjacent parts, which prevails to an alarming extent and is productive of very serious consequences.

The most prominent and characteristic features is a muco-purulent discharge from the head, varying in its nature at different times.

In some there is an almost constant flow of clear, acid fluid, but oftener an offensive, purulent, or mucous-purulent, greenish-yellow mucous matter is secreted, which accumulates in the nostrils or drops into the throat, causing its frequent removal by blowing the nose or expectoration, and often by soa processes. Sometimes patients feel as though their whole head was in a state of rottenness, so great is the amount of morbid matter from the head, and as a recurrent position, usually favors the flow down ward, his rest is frequently disturbed from this cause. Many sufferers are obliged to lie with the head very much elevated in order to sleep with some degree of comfort.

In others a tough, viscid and offensive phlegm collects behind and above the soft palate, in the passage between the throat and head, adhering to the parts with glutinous tenacity. Its lodgment embarrasses respiration and creates a sensation of irritation and uneasiness in the affected locality, which gives rise to a constant and almost irresistible desire to relieve the discomfort by drawing the mucous into the throat so as
